THE FOURTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
Trustees of the Town Library.

The shelves and furniture of the new library building were set in order soon after the publication of the last report and the books were transferred to their new quarters at the earliest practicable period. On the 29th of April, interesting public exercises were held in the Town hall, including a well digested discourse on books by Rev. Mr. McGown, and animated addresses by other gentlemen from abroad, followed by a service of dedication in the library itself. As the exercises of dedication have since been published, no farther record is needed.

The apartment devoted to the use of the library, after an experience of ten months, is found well suited to its purposes. The room is ample, well lighted and convenient. The shelves, compact and easy of access, will hold nearly three thousand volumes. The place already assumes a homelike aspect and the trustees have much satisfaction in that the library has now a home; a home to which we can invite our citizens and strangers with pleasure; a home to which we can ask them to entrust their treasures—books, periodicals, historical papers, letters or souvenirs of patriotic events. They would welcome any documents of local interest, photographs and memorials of deceased ancestors and of men distinguished in the State, in a word, whatever pertains legitimately to the history of the town and its families. Many articles of this character may thus be preserved to which another generation will attach much value.

The trustees are pleased to acknowledge the receipt of the following articles for the use and embellishment of the building. A nicely finished walk of soapstone is the joint contribution of Mr. and Mrs. Belden and Mr. James Cochran the former furnishing the materials, and the latter the skilled labor required in placing it. Mrs. Albert A. Rotch has provided a handsome mammoth burner which illuminates the main room sufficiently; Miss P. E. McKean has presented a framed engraving, the head of Bayard Taylor; Mrs. Catherine Steele has given a framed autograph letter of John Farmer which is of permanent local interest; Mrs. Davis has given a stand and book tray for the convenience of the librarian, and Mrs. E. D. Boylston has provided a bowl, pitcher and basin for the washstand. A portrait of Hon. C. H. Atherton, by Stuart, the gift of Mrs. Frances M. Hill of Worcester, Mass., adorns the southern wall of the largest apartment.

Of books, the trustees gratefully acknowledges the receipt of the following valuable donations:

Mass.

The trustees have purchased the large town and city atlas of New Hampshire published by Hurd & Co., Boston, and also one hundred miscellaneous books, making an addition to our lists of one hundred and forty volumes, besides magazines and pamphlets.

Seventy families have drawn books from the library, and twenty-three hundred and eighty-four volumes have been issued by the librarian.

In the first report of the Board of Library Commissioners for the State of New Hampshire, a printed list of books suitable for use in the formation of new libraries is given, with rules and regulations for the management of the same. On examination of this report, with its judicious and helpful recommendations, the trustees are gratified to observe, that most of the authors named by the commissioners are already represented on our shelves, and that the methods of management are not essentially unlike those adopted by us.

The commissioners speak of the value of the books printed and distributed to the towns by the State, and the importance of strict measures for their preservation; a matter which has been very generally neglected, and the books consequently lost or scattered beyond recall. They are also at pains to enlarge on the value of the Town library as an auxiliary of the school in the work of popular education. This point deserves the consideration of parents and teachers. The attention of scholars may be directed to such reading as will aid and enlarge their understanding of the topics they study. By so doing, they will not only gain valuable information but what is of higher advantage, acquire habits of intelligent investigation. A well selected library provides the choicest materials for advancement in learning.

Before closing this report, the trustees desire to say, that they have sought to anticipate the wants of our citizens and to make the library attractive to all. To this end they have allowed visitors free access to the shelves—a privilege that all lovers of books highly appreciate, but which few librarians have granted. It is a privilege which may be abused through thoughtlessness or wrong habits, but whatever the occasion of the abuse, the privilege cannot be continued unless the printed notices are carefully observed. It is also indispensable to the successful working of the library in the reception and delivery of books, that the librarian have time to enter the date and numbers of books selected by our readers, and that her attention be directed to the card numbers when they are returned. A consideration of her convenience would lighten her labors and facilitate the movements of all.
